Thursday, June 22

CE: Medication Safety: Be Proactive, Not Reactive

10:00–11:00 am | Islander F

PATRICIA CUTTING BOOKER, PharmD, BCPPS, Boston Children's Hospital

Medication errors account for more than 7,000 deaths per year in the United States. Pharmacy professionals play a critical role in preventing medication errors. Learners will leave this session with error prevention, safety culture, and reliability strategies to implement at their practice site to decrease medication errors.

CE: Communicate, Assimilate, and Facilitate: Pharmacy Technician and Community Health Worker (CHW) Roles Collide

11:15 am–12:15 pm | Islander F

JOHN (JAKE) A. GALDO, PharmD, MBA, BCPS, BCGP, Seguridad, Inc.

CHRISTIAN TADRUS, PharmD, Sam's Health Mart Pharmacies

Numerous pharmacy technicians across the country are seeking additional training to grow professionally and contribute in new ways to the pharmacy team. A pharmacy technician who receives Community Health Worker (CHW) training can serve as a liaison between the pharmacy and the community to fulfill important functions related to education, advocacy, motivational interviewing, and addressing social determinants of health (SDOH).

Opportunities For Pharmacists With Insulin Injection Training: Counseling Tips That Make A Difference

Lunch & Learn (sponsored by embecta)

11:30 am–1:00 pm | Islander E

Join this session to hear from Jerry Meece, a pharmacist and Certified Diabetes Educator, who serves as the Owner and Director of Clinical Services at Plaza Pharmacy and Wellness Center in Gainesville, Texas. Notably, Plaza Pharmacy is one of the pioneering freestanding pharmacies in the nation to be recognized by the American Diabetes Association for its Provider Education. Jerry's expertise in diabetes care and clinician/patient behavior has been widely acknowledged. He has delivered over 1200 lectures both domestically and internationally, focusing on diabetes and healthcare dynamics.

CE: Eliminating Stigma, Providing Care: Community Pharmacy Management of HIV

1:15–2:15 pm | Islander F

KELSEA ARAGON, PharmD, PhC, BCACP, CDCES, The University of New Mexico College of Pharmacy

Pharmacy team members have a responsibility to help end the HIV epidemic. This course will discuss strategies to ensure proper screening in patients for HIV testing recommendations and the appropriate assessment and management of therapy for patients living with HIV. The importance of the community pharmacy team in essential monitoring and follow-up care for patients living with HIV will be highlighted.

CE: Appreciate and Accommodate: Understanding Etiquette for Persons with Unique Abilities

1:15–2:15 pm | Islander G

ASHLEY WALKER, PharmD, Med Max Consulting, LLC

There are approximately 61 million adults residing in the United States with a disability, and many of these individuals face challenges when accessing healthcare services. Community pharmacy teams need to be aware of their legal obligations according to the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA). This course will provide the learner with background information on the ADA, general knowledge of what resources are available on the subject, and some basic sign language to use when communicating with the deaf and hard of hearing community.

CE: Give Your Program a BOOST(er): Best Practices for a Successful Immunization Program

2:30–3:30 pm | Islander F

ED COHEN, PharmD, FAPhA, PharmTeam Associates

The participation of community pharmacies in federal and state vaccine programs for the administration of COVID-19 vaccines highlighted the importance of having and following established vaccination guidelines and best practices to ensure the provision of optimal care. Pharmacy teams will learn how to continuously focus on improving workflow and essential tasks associated with an immunization program during this session.

CE: Innovative Solutions to Elevate Community Pharmacy Practice

2:30–3:30 pm | Islander G

ELIZABETH SKOY, PharmD, North Dakota State University School of Pharmacy

Independent pharmacies must set themselves apart from other community retail pharmacies. Unique, creative, and innovative service opportunities for independent pharmacies are abundant. Teams interested in successful implementation of an innovative service need only to have a desire to improve the quality of care for their patients and a small amount of time available to seek additional skills training.

Opening Session

4:00–5:30pm | South Pacific Ballroom

Join us as we kickoff McKesson ideaShare 2023 with an energetic look at the industry. During the session we'll also recognize several outstanding pharmacies leading the way on innovation, patient service and more.

Friday, June 23

CE: Sweeten the Deal: Community Pharmacy Management of Diabetes

7:00–8:00 am | Islander F

SUSAN CORNELL, PharmD, CDCES, FAPhA, FADCES, Midwestern University College of Pharmacy

The 2023 ADA Guidelines are now available, and pharmacy team members need to understand how these updates affect the care provided to patients. With diabetes diagnoses at more than 37 million and prediabetes reaching 96 million, all members of the pharmacy team need to stay up to date in real time on diabetes care. Our expert speaker has teased out the most important changes in the updated guidelines that you need to know to provide optimal care for your patients.

Public Policy Session

8:15–9:45 am | South Pacific Ballroom

This 90-minute presentation will catch you up on everything that happened in the last year and initiatives we need to look out for in the year to come. Hear from McKesson policy experts, as well as advocates from around the industry as we work together to elevate the role pharmacies play in peoples' lives.

DIR Fees Breakout

10:00–10:30 am | South Pacific Ballroom

Join Health Mart Atlas for a working session around expected changes to pharmacy reimbursement for the upcoming 2024 Medicare plan year, and how those changes to DIRs may impact cashflow. During the session, we will also review the opt-in solution Health Mart Atlas has developed to assist pharmacies as they set aside funds for future DIR collection.

Prepping for the Drug Supply Chain Security Act Breakout

10:30–11:00 am | South Pacific Ballroom

As the November 27 effective date approaches, this session will outline everything you need to know to prepare for the Drug Supply Chain Security Act (DSCSA).

Managed Care Transparency: Going Beyond DIR

Lunch & Learn (for Health Mart Atlas customers only)

11:30 am–1:00 pm | Islander E

This session focuses on managed care transparency, moving beyond DIR, and highlights key themes including increased and diversified revenue, patient support, legislative support, and contract support. Participants will gain insights into strategies for improving transparency in managed care, enhancing revenue streams, and providing better support to patients through legislative and contractual means.

The Sky is the Limit When Technicians Raise Up the Pharmacy Team

Lunch & Learn (technicians only)

11:30 am–1:00 pm | Islander C

Are you a technician with ideas for enhancing your pharmacy's website or social media posts? Or are you ready to take on more responsibility for managing business operations, immunization services or other clinical services offered at your pharmacy? Join this roundtable session to explore tools and solutions that technicians can use to make a real impact. Well-trained and prepared technicians can increase efficiency and patient safety, allowing all to work at the top of their skills, licenses, and credentials.

The Ripple Effect: Pharmacy Teams Creating Waves of Change in the Community

Roundtable Discussion

1:30–2:45 pm | Islander F

DR. JUDY MONROE, President, CDC Foundation

In this collaborative roundtable discussion, take a deep dive into specific examples of how communities can come together to solve healthcare problems using the pharmacy as the connection point. Learn how to utilize an online, closed-loop social determinants of health tool to better serve your community. Attendees will partake in tableside discussions with peers to brainstorm innovative ways independent pharmacies around the nation can solve unique issues in their communities. We recommend coming to this session prepared to take part in an interactive, engaging discussion!

CE: Immunization Administration: Best Practices Refresher and Skills Assessment

3:00–4:30 pm | Islander F

ELIZABETH SKOY, PharmD, North Dakota State University School of Pharmacy

ELAINE LADD, PharmD, ABAHP, FAARFM, FACA, Innovative Remedy Solutions

Pharmacy teams have a critical role in providing preventative care through immunization services. Attend this mini-workshop for a quick review of aseptic technique for preparing injections and administration best practices. Learners will also have an opportunity to work directly with an expert faculty trainer to practice and demonstrate accurate aseptic technique and proper administration techniques for subcutaneous and intramuscular injections. The hands-on training offered in this session satisfies state and federal requirements for immunizing pharmacists and technicians. Completion of CEImpact's Immunization Administration course (available on HMU) prior to attendance is required to obtain a certificate of completion for administration techniques. Learners who have previously received a certificate of completion for immunization administration delivery may simply attend this course to refresh their knowledge and skills.

Accreditation details for each continuing education session, including UANs and CEUs, can be located on the official McKesson ideaShare website.

Saturday, June 24

CE: Take Action – Don't WEIGHT: Community Pharmacy Management of Obesity

7:15–8:15 am | Islander F

BETTHANY THOMAS, PharmD, BMT Consulting Services, LLC

The prevalence of obesity in the United States is increasing and obesity complicates numerous medical conditions. Weight loss may improve an individual's overall health status, but there is an abundance of conflicting information about the appropriate use of pharmacotherapy and lifestyle interventions for the treatment of obesity. This course is structured to build confidence in understanding the AGA Clinical Guidelines, educating patients and providers about effective pharmacotherapy, and providing actionable lifestyle recommendations to patients for weight loss.

Interactive Keynote Session

8:30–10:00 am | South Pacific Ballroom

JASON DORSEY

Jason Dorsey is passionate about separating myth from truth through research so leaders can drive measurable results. He's led nearly 100 research studies and taken clients from last to first in workplace performance and customer growth. Join the bestselling author for an engaging, interactive session focused on helping you better connect with your consumers and your workforce.

Empowering Women in Rx: Networking, Leadership, Ownership, Work/Life Balance

Lunch & Learn (sponsored by RxOwnership)

11:30 am–1:00 pm | Islander E

EMLAH TUBUO, CEO & Founder, Emlah Naturals and Owner of Powell Pharmacy

Are you looking to gain valuable insights, strategies, and actionable advice for success in your pharmacy practice? Join us for an inspiring Lunch and Learn session with keynote speaker Emlah Tubuo, CEO & Founder of Emlah Naturals and Owner of Powell Pharmacy. The afternoon session will also include table breakouts for networking and discussion around the four key pillars of the Women in Rx program: Networking, Leadership, Ownership, and Work/Life Balance. Don't miss this empowering session to propel your professional journey!

Technicians as Community Health Workers: Another Way Pharmacies Can Play a Larger Role in People's Lives

Roundtable Discussion (for technicians only)

1:30–2:45 pm | Islander C

Community Health Workers (CHWs) are an important resource to connect individuals and families in need to a variety of local resources and services. Adding Technician CHWs to the Community Pharmacy, the most accessible health and wellness destination in communities, is a recipe for success. Join us for a moderated panel discussion to learn more about pharmacy technician CHWs and how they can add value to your pharmacy, patients, and community.

CE: A BLUEprint for Success: Community Pharmacy Management of Depression

1:30–3:00 pm | Islander F

LAURA RHODES, PharmD, BCACP, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Eshelman School of Pharmacy

The United States Preventative Services Task Force recommends screening for depression in the adult population. Depression screening could help identify patients in need of treatment and also prevent suicide deaths. Community pharmacists are uniquely positioned to provide these screenings as a service to their patients. Attendees of this session will learn about methods of administering depression screenings in their community pharmacy and how to effectively document the interaction and when to refer to other healthcare providers.

CE: Moving on Up: Pharmacy Life After the Pandemic

1:30–3:00 pm | Islander G

NICHOLE D. FOSTER, MBA, MEd, CPhT-Adv, CEImpact

The world changed forever with the COVID-19 pandemic when healthcare teams were forced to pivot time and time again. Pharmacy teams faced challenges, identified vulnerabilities, overcame barriers, and managed extra workload. So, what can pharmacy teams expect moving forward? What big challenges are facing pharmacy teams? What steps can be taken to create a culture of success? Attend this session to learn more!

CE: Unraveling HER-story: Community Pharmacy's Role in Women's Access to Care

3:15–4:15 pm | Islander F

BETTHANY THOMAS, PharmD, BMT Consulting Services, LLC

ALICIA FORINASH, Pharm.D., FCCP, BCPS, BCACP, University of Health Sciences and Pharmacy in St. Louis

Women continuously face barriers in healthcare based on gender bias, access issues, gaps in research, and providers hesitant to recommend care. This course will highlight the role of pharmacy team members in ensuring women are empowered and equipped with knowledge to successfully navigate the healthcare system to receive optimal care.

CE: Digging Deep to Uncover the Truth about Functional Medicine

3:15–4:15 pm | Islander G

AARON McDONOUGH, PharmD, Towncrest Pharmacy

The practice of functional medicine seeks to find the root cause of an illness and then corrects the cause. It is, essentially, individualized treatment for each patient. Finding the root cause of an illness allows for a restoration to optimal health. Pharmacy teams have a unique opportunity to embrace and positively impact the practice of functional medicine.
